

Chain rule

This section is a very useful section. You can use chain rule if you have a composite function and it requires you to find the derivative.

After completing this section, students should be able to do the following.

- View the chain rule in terms of the gradient.